URGED TO KEEP W. S. STAMPS

The people of Redwood City and vicinity are being appealed to this week by County Clerk Jos. H. Nash, chairman of the local War Savings Committee ,to buy War Savings Stamps and fulfill their pledges before the first of the year. According to T. T. Wiseman, county director on War Savings, San Mateo county is considerably behind in its quota and a concentrated effort is being made in the different districts to raise the necessary amount. The following telegram from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was received by Director Wiseman Monday and a copy transmitted to Chairman Nash:

December 5, 1918.—Mr. Thomas F. Wiseman, County Director War Savings, San Mateo, Cal.—My Dear Mr. Wiseman: I most earnestly urge make every possible effort to the end that pledges for the purchase of War Savings Stamps be fulfilled before the close of the year. The government's monetary requirements were never greater than they are today. Stop expenditures for November were greater than in any similar period. These expenditures growing out of the war must be met by borrowing from the people and their magnificient response heretofore to the government's requirements makes me confident that they will not fail to continue their support to the end that all payments resulting from war necessities will be promptly met. Much remains to be done. Our brave troops must be maintained and paid until their work is fully accomplished and they are returned to their homes. This is not a time for us to relax our efforts and the treasury department is making plans for larger and even more important work during the coming years. Please make every effort to bring this statement before the people in your district and to urge upon them the continued holding of their war saving certificates, the fulfillment of their pledges and additional purchase as their means permit.

(Signed) W. G. McADOO.

It is suggested that all persons hold ing Liberty Bonds apply the interest accruing thereon to the purchase of Thrift Stamps. The coupons remaining in the bank do not draw any interest.

D. GOULSON WRITES TO PARENTS

Private D. Goulson writes to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Goulson of Pescadero as follows:

October 24, 1918—In Camp in France—Dear Dad: Well as I have a little spare time I will drop you a few lines, am well and getting along nicely. I am still on the old motorcycle and getting along well. The fellow on the other one was run into the other day and broke his leg, but he was very reckless so I guess that is why we are still in the same old camp, and I hope we stay here all winter as winter is sure coming. The leaves are all falling and the nights are frosty, but i have lots of clothes and I manage to keep warm. I am quite a soldier now and can make my bed so that it is warm as toast with three blankets. We are situated on the hill here northeastern part of France overlooking a beautiful river bottom which has a fine crop of spuds this year. Nearby is a "canal" on which many an old boat goes by each day The main road is 100 y ards below us and is lined on each side four miles with big trees which look very pretty until the leaves began to fall. We are camped in barracks and have a big stove which keeps us warm at night. The kitchen is only a little way from the barracks and I of course see more of the country than most of the boys. I have been up to the front many times and have seen some hard old sights. I tell you dad it makes you think of home when you hear one of those big shells coming with that moaning old sound. Yesterday I was repairing a puncture on the road I heard an airplane, I looked up and I could scarcely see him, then all of a sudden I heard first across the valley from me a six-inch gun go bang and I knew then it was "Boche" machine but they did not get me. About two months ago I saw one brought down. Oh, a fellow sees some wonderful sights and war is surely "Hell." but I seem to stand up to it O. K. I do not get discouraged. Of course I would much rather be home with you and dear mother, but I have to stay here, this is the best way to feel about it. I rarely get homesick and I even surprise myself as I was so used to a good home and devoted parents. Tell Ma to send me a good harmonica in her Christmas package. I spend all my money for eats. I received the cigarettes and candy you sent me. I was glad to get the carmels as they are very scarce over here. I get the mail every three days and everyone is glad to get mail from home. Well dad I must close. Write soon. Don't worry. I'll be home again. It is lovely here today as the sun is shining so bright. With love to all. Don't worry about me I a m"Jake."

Your loving son always,

D. GOULSON,

388 Engineers, Co. A

JOIN THE RED CROSS AND HELP A GOOD CAUSE

The American Red Cross is asking every man, woman and child to become a member of its organization at Christmas. Membership is one dollar a year.

Surely it were an ungrateful and an unimaginative person who will not respond to the appeal of the Greatest Mother of Them All.

For the Red Cross never swerved in all the years of war. It hurried to the relief not only of war sufferers, but of peoples bowed down by famine, pestilence and flood. In the recent epidemic of influenza it was an angel of practical mercy. It has gone into the waste places of the earth and taken succor to men forgotten by humanity. It has taken manna to starving thousands.

But its biggest service, of course, has been in the war. Its myriad hands, those of the consecrated women who nursed and the others who worked unremittingly making bandages and garments for hospital use, healed whatever they touched. Many of the shiploads of war boys who were invalided home, thousands of those who will come home in the glad months to come, are alive only because the Red Cross would not permit them to slip into the great immensities when their tired souls ebbed at the edge of the far countries. The letters which you received from your soldier were written on stationary provided for him at a place where Red Cross lives were risked in the providing.

The story of the heroism of the Red Cross will never be told for the reason that it is so far-reaching, so deep in the profundity of its selflessness that the tale would unfold into eternity. Its very foundation is service. The debt which America and the Allied powers owe to its beneficience can never be liquidated.

Now it asks, not contribution, not subscriptions, but memberships. It would have its embracing arms about an entire nation united in what President Wilson has called the great comradeship.

SPECIAL RATES FOR DISCHARGED SOLDIERS

Instructions have been issued by Director General McAdoo to furnish discharged soldiers and sailors, traveling to their points of enlistment, with so called military meals at the special rate of 75 cents as granted to men in the service under an arrangement made with the several military departments sometime ago.

Special reduced fares accorded discharged soldiers and sailors are on the basis of two-thirds of the normal coach fare applying via route traveled, or two cents per mile, except that the rate per mile would, of course, be higher in those states where the basic fare is more than three cents per mile. Between the reduction of the fare and the special rate made, it is believed they have been amply provided for, particularly in view of the fact that the additional passage charge for occupancy of space in parlor car and sleeping cars was cancelled on December 1st, so that such discharged soldiers and sailors will have at their command at least a half cent per mile more than they actually need to cover their total expenses in reaching home.

WOODSIDE NEWSLETS

Through the kindness and generosity of members and friends of the church, Rev. and Mrs. B. St.John received a Thanksgiving gift of one hundred dollars, a most timely and much appreciated gift.

Mr. and Mrs. St.-John have received a letter from their son telling of his promotion to a First Lieutenant. He has been operating in the aero service, but lately has been taking training for a flyer, expecting if the war continued to be made commander of a squadron.

The Woodside Sunday school is practicing for their Christmas entertainment and promise a very fine program.

Mrs. H. M. Preston, wife of Colonel Preston, who is now in New York, is at the Hotel Cecil, where she will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. James Athearn Folger will entertain a score of guests at the Charity Ball in compliment to the Misses Elena and Betty Folger, who are debutantes of this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eyre will be hosts to a party of ten guests, as will Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels and Mr. Frederick Kohl. Mr. and Mrs. James Flood will preside over one of the large tables and others who wil lentertain on this occasion are Mrs. J. J. Hannify and Mrs. E. M. O'Brien. CALIFORNIA AND CALIFORNIANS

BY GENERAL JOHN F. SHEEHAN

Junipero Serra

On these trips Father Serra probably reached the headwaters of Carmel river and remembered that Portola on his first expedition in search of Monterey followed the hill country west of the Salinas river and came across a picturesque valley some 50 miles south of Monterey, which Father Crespi described to the Mission President. Here he founded the Mission San Antonio in July, 1771. His next step was to remove the Mission from Monterey to Carmel, which was accomplished in December, 1771.

After the retirement form Monterey of Portola, Lieutenant Pedro Fages became acting Governor, the real Governor being Felipe de Barri, who never came north from Loreto. But Fages' disposition and aims proving incompatible with those of Serra, the latter determined to have him removed from the important position which he held. Accordingly in October, 1772, he proceeded from San Diego by ship to Mexico, taking with him an Indian boy he had baptized in Monterey ,and so impressed the Viceroy Bucareli that he was granted all he asked for. The removal of Fages was not however foremost in his mind. He wanted first further relief for the California Missions by way of people and supplies to maintain them, and opposed the closing of the port of San Blas, through which relief must come. Serra insisted that the spiritual interests should dominate the military occupation of California, and this he maintained to the end. He also recommended that a highway be established from Sonora to California and that Juan B. de Anza, Captain of the Presidio of Tubac, be commissioned to open the overland route. To all his requests Bucareli and his Cabinet in Mexico City cheerfully acceded, and Serra sailed from San Blas on January 24, 1774, landing at San Diego in the spring, having been absent about 20 months, never again to leave his beloved California.

He decided to walk to Monterey, a distance of 500 miles, exclusive of side trips, visiting and inspecting the Missions en route. While on the way to San Gabriel he selected a site for a new Mission to be named San Juan Capistrano and which he dedicated the year following. At this time he was shocked by the news of the murder by the Indians of San Diego of Padre Louis Jayme, which occurred in November 1775.

In 1776 Viceroy Bucareli, agreeable to his promise to Father Serra, appointed Felipe de Neve, who was Governor of the Peninsula, to succeed de Barri as Governor of California. There was only one noticeable clash between the new Governor and the President of the Missions and that was over the right of the latter to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation. There was no Bishop in all the Californias and Father Serra was too modest to seek the appointment, but he keenly felt the necessity for the confirmation of the thousands of native converts to the church, and therefore asked for special authority from the Pope to confer the rite. This was in due time granted. De Neve strenuously objected on the ground that only a consecrated Bishop could act in that capacity, but as usual Serra's wishes prevailed, and the Governor received orders from his superiors not to disturb the priest.

Father Serra did not visit San Francisco or Santa Clara until October 1777, after both Missions had been established. His last service in dedicating a Mission was at San Buenaventura, on Easter Sunday, March 31, 1782, and on his return trip to Monterey he selected the site for the Santa Barbara Mission, which however, was not established until two years after his death.

But the labors of Junipero Serra were nearing the end, and this he undoubtedly realized, for on his return to Monterey he announced that he must make another round of the Missions from San Diego to San Francisco, inasmuch as the time limit granting him authority to administer Confirmation would expire within another year, and there were many converts in the various Missions who had not as yet received the benefits of that Sacrament of the church. Accordingly he sailed from Monterey to San Diego and visited Mission after Mission back to San Carlos, walking all the way, at nights sleeping on the ground with a blanket thrown over him, eating only the simplest food, and drinking nothing but water or milk, for he was an abstainer from wine. It was evident to all that he had not long to live.

In April, 1784 ,he paid his last visit to San Francisco, and on reaching Mission Dolores he threw himself into the arms of his old companion and friend Padre Palou. On the way to his last resting place on earth he dedicated the pueblo of San Jose.

During his 15 years in California Father Serra had baptized nearly 6000 natives and confirmed more than 5000.

His last days at San Carlos were always days of suffering, and finally on August 28, 1784, at the age of 71, he spread his blanket and silently went to sleep.

Words cannot express the scenes attendant upon the taking away of the "Father of the Missions." The simple neophytes were heart-broken and the companions of his own class were appalled at the loss of their chief supporter. Bells were tolled, the cannon of the ships and the Royal Presidio pealed—and all was desolation at San Carlos and Monterey. The devoted Missionary was buried under the altar of San Carlos beside the companion of his youth, Father Crespi, who had preceded him eight months. His beloved Palu confessed him before passing away and succeeded him temporarily in charge of the Missions until Father Lasuen was duly elected by the College of San Fernando to the place.

Father Junipero Serra had served as a Franciscan monk for 54 years, and as a Missionary 34 years, 15 years having been spent in California.

Nine Missions had been established in California during his administration, all but three of them, viz: San Gabriel, San Francisco and Santa Clara, having been dedicated by the President in person. The entire list in order included: San Diego, San Carlos, San Antonio, San Gabriel, San Luis Obispo, San Francisco (or Dolores,) San Juan Capistrano, Santa Clara and San Buenaventura.

The visitor to San Carlos on approaching the altar of the rehabilitated church will find a slab on the left-hand corner on which is inscribed the names of Serra, Crespi, Lasuen and Gomez—all co-workers with the pioneer of the Missions and premier pioneer of California.

After secularization of the Missions, Carmel as well as the sister Missions were neglected, almost forgotten in the greed for lands and gold, and in later years doubt was even expressed as to whether the remains of the Father of the Missions were yet at San Carlos. But this doubt was dispelled in 1882, when Father Casanova of the Monterey parish called several people of prominence to Carmel, had the graves opened, the coffins examined, and there beyond a doubt were found the remains, even the vestments of Padres Serra, Lasuen, Crespi and Gomez, all in a fair state of preservation. Through the efforts and donations of enthusiastic lovers of the pardes, the Missions and the early history of California, Carmel Mission Church has been restored to a respectable degree; a keeper is in charge, and the spot is as a shrine to the people of all nations and religious denominations.

Parde Palous lived to write the life story of his friend and companion, which was published in Mexico in 1787.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM SAN CARLOS

Happenings in Our Northern Neighbor Town Reported by One of Its Residents

Mrs. Amanda A. Swasey, a sister of the late Mrs. Timothy Guy Phelps of San Carlos and one of the heirs of the latter's estate, passed away in San Francisco Saturday. She was a native of New York, 79 years old.

She was the widow of Charles S. Swasey, mother of Charles W. and William N. Swasey and sister of Mrs. Emily Tripp of Boston, Mrs. Virginia A. Lord of San Carlos, Mrs. J. B. Schroeder, Alfred A. and Edward T. McLean of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Timothy Guy Phelps and Mrs. C. E. Dwinell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lemis formerly residents of San Carlos came over from Oakland to visit for the weekend at the home of Mr. Lemis' sister, Mrs. Edw. E. Jones.

Guy Hull's only regret after his return from his duck and goose hunt, was in the fact that the law wouldn't permit him to bring enough of what he bagged home with him to distribute among all of his many friends and relatives. And we are kinder sorry ourselves.

Joe Alvas who is working for the C. C. Morse Co. in their trial gardens here has moved into the bungalow at the Aviation Field.

Dan Davidson who was one of the aerial instructors during the life of the San Carlos field and has been one of the government instructors at Waco, Texas, since the U. S. entered the war, but at the conclusion of peace when there were no prospects for active service at the front Davidson took advantage of the first opportunity to secure employment in the aerial mail service and has signed up to handle mail between New York and Chicago.

Mrs. T. J. Conway has come up from Ray, Arizona to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Botterell over the holidays. She will be joined by her husband a few days before Christmas.

Mrs. H. L. Mack, captain of the Red Cross Motor Corps, called and delivered the supplies to be used in the Christmas Roll Call to District Chairman Cowgill at San Carlos last Wednesday. Mrs. Mack is a very charming woman and is well fitted for the position in which she has been appointed.

Mrs. D. L. Stewart left on Thursday for San Francisco to sing a solo at the home of Mrs. Heath, 1243 Broadway. A luncheon and stork shower was given that afternoon in honor of Mrs. Glandon of San Anselmo, Marin county. Mrs. Stewart is a warbler of great ability.

The fine French bull pup has either strayed of been stolen from the D. L. Stewart home. The Stewarts and particularly little five-year-old Arline, were very much attached to their little household pet and they feel the loss very keenly. It was also a very valuable and high bred dog, the mother and father having won the prizes at the exposition.

Mrs. May Dexter Henshall, School Library Organizer for that department of the State Library, accompanied by the popular county Librarian, Miss Anne Belle Bailey, was here last Tuesday evening to address the trustees at their regular meeting. Mrs. Hanshall is an interesting as well as a most convincing speaker, and without effort she entertained our board for five minutes relating her many experiences in connection with her work as organizer. After she had detailed the manifold advantages that would accrue to the schools, and particularly the smaller and more isolated, by transferring their small funds, obsolete and damaged books and all other griefs to the County Librarian this would seem sufficient to convince the most exacting that the schools with their small allotments have all to gain and nothing to lose by joining this co-operative plan, rather than trying to go it alone. Not only in the large reservoir of books we would have to draw from but also in the great pleasure and instructive advantages the children would enjoy from the traveling graphaphone records, the stereopticon views for illustrative purposes, the traveling art gallery and many other features of like interest and advantage. It is not the purpose of the Organizer nor the Librarian to encourage the enlistment of the larger primary or high schools in the movement until the smaller schools, which are in greater need of the service, are enrolled and this department of the county plant has grown sufficiently to take care of all the schools ,which of course will take time. But the more heartily we all enter into the spirit of the movement and lend our help to the state organizer and the Librarian the sooner the happy condition will be brought about.

Mrs. Louise Benedict left Wednesday morning to visit with friends and relatives in Piedmont.

Mrs. George Allen Fredenberg, whose husband is the head chemist for the Standard Oil Co., at Richmond, was here for the week-end at the Hull-Shields home. Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Fredenberg was associated with Mrs. Shields in the tax department of the S. P. Co., while their headquarters were in the Flood building.

The school superintendent, who seldom has an opponent, was a visitor in San Carlos last Monday. Mr. Cloud advises that it is his intention to call a joint meeting of the school boards, comprising Redwood City, San Carlos and Belmont for the purpose of considering the proposition of consolidating these districts, and thus providing the scholars, above the fifth grade, in the Belmont and San Carlos schools with the advantages of domestic science and manual training as they are so well equipped for doing in the Redwood schools. This would be done by providing the scholars with free transportation to and from Redwood.

Owing to the dense traffic on the state highway, and particularly on Saturdays and Sundays, making it practically impossible for machines to stop long in front of the real estate office, with any degree of safety, at its present location Fred H. Drake, manager of the properties, has decided on "safety first" and has arranged with Mr. Archibald to move the building to Cypress avenue ,at a point clear of but near the highway.

The patrons fo the company will doubtless be glad to learn that 30-ride family commutation tickets have again been placed on sale, beginning December 6th, to all points where the one-way fare is $2.50 or less. It is also more satisfactory to the agents, for since the withdrawal of this class of ticket from sale they have lost considerable short-ride business to the busses and jitneys, and which militates against their record in comparison with former years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Powers returned Monday from a ten days trip in the south. They report a delightful time going and coming aboard one of the Pacific Coast Steamship company's palatial steamers, the weather being ideal for a short sea voyage. While in the south they visited Los Angeles, Riverside, San Diego and Redlands, taking in all sights which these interesting places afford in a short sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansen S. Peterson were in San Jose for two days visit with friends and relatives during the week.

RED CROSS CHRISTMAS ROLL CALL

Redwood City is ready for the big drive next week to enroll every adult in the Red Cross. The drive, which is called the Christmas Roll Call, will open on Monday and continue until the following Monday. Unless the unforseen happens, the Red Cross has announced that never again will it stand before the public asking for contributions and subscriptions in a campaign for funds with which to "carry on" its humane work. Not that the organization expects to discontinue, but because it expects and hopes to derive its sinews from other sources, has it taken this position.

For the coming drive, Redwood City has been divided into 74 districts, all considerably smaller than the districts in the other big war drives. There will be 74 workers, one for each district. Mark E. Ryan is chairman of the Roll Call committee, with Mrs. James M. Eva, vice-president. Central headquarters have been secured at the Community Center on Broadway, which will be in charge of Mrs. Eva and where reports of the progress of the drive will be turned in at the end of each day.

The membership fee is $1.00, half of which is retained by the local chapter and the other half goes to the National Headquarters at Washington. For every dollar received a membership button of new design will be given. No children will be solicited in the big drive, as they are taken care of the Junior Red Cross.

Woodside and Portola are included in the Redwood City chapter and special workers have been named for those districts. In Woodside, Mrs. Zane and Mrs. A. A. Neuman will be in charge.

The quota for the district is one hundred per cent of every adult within the territory embraced by the chapter. Chairman Ryan is very confident that this quota will be reached.

MENLO PARK NEWS OF ALL SORTS

Doings at Peninsula Garden Spot As Told in Breezy Style By Our Reporters

Charles Weeden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weeden, writes to his parents from France. He left here with the Eighth Division, only a portion of which went across the Atlandtic. The Eighth infantry of which he is a member reached France The other part of the division is soon to arrive here to be demobolized.

Menlo Park is rapidly resuming its condition enjoyed before the war. The business men who came here to profit by the big camp are moving away daily. Fremont theatre will give its last show tomorrow night. Soon Menlo Park will be as it was in the days preceding the world's war a quiet and peaceful village. No longer will the tread of thousands of soldiers be heard on the streets, no longer will be seen the column after column of boys in khaki march on to camp. These sights will no longer be seen. Blessed peace has come to take the place of militarism and once again will the people settle down to their peaceful occupations. Camp Fremont will soon be dismantled but with its passing will go fond memories of the many young men who came from afar to train here. Now that the cantonment is about to go it may be said truthfully that since the first tent was pitched until now it was continually opposed by a certain few who left nothing undone to hamper the government in preparing it as a place for training soldiers. The "Jinks" hovered over it always from beginning to end. It is to be hoped that those who opposed it will be satisfied now that it is about to be abandoned. It was ever thus, nothing has ever come to this section that had a tendency to advance the community was welcomed. There is only two avenues left open for Menlo Park to enter, one is to incorporate and the other is to become a part and parcel of San Francisco, which one will be acceptable? The citizens must decide this.

On Wednesday evening, December 18th the Menlo Parlor N. D. G. W. and N. S. G. W. will give the first of a series of card parties at the Moose Club rooms, Menlo Park. Six prizes will be given. The hall is very attractive with a large fire place to keep the card players warm. Dancing afterwards. Admission 25 cents. Jos. Nash and Edward Kavanaugh will conduct the game.

Final plans for the Liberty Jubilee to be given by the men and officers of Camp Fremont on the evening of December 14 in Stanford Assembly Hall were announced yesterday by Captain Robbins Little, camp personnel officer. It is expected that the Jubilee, which will take the form of a vaudeville and minstrel show, will be the last of the performances given by the men at this camp. The money resulting from the show will be given to the mess fund. Thirty actors are taking part in the performance, all of them professional and noted for their particular type of work. They have been chosen and trained under the supervision of Sergeant F. E. Hall, better known to the professional world as Earl DeForrest.

The leading acts, as they appear on the program are:

Smith and Meyer, Q. M. C., in a violin and piano syncopation; McGlaughlin, wizard of stringed instruments; Miss Grace Wheeler, known on the stage as the Rainbow Princess, in Hawaiian and Chinese dances; Shireen, an East Indian vocalist, in native songs; Earl DeForrest, slight-of-hand and magic; a minstrel show, featuring A. D. Fidler, interlocutor, H. W. Engle and Spider Clopton, end men.

The music for the Jubilee will be furnished by an orchestra directed by Sergeant Goode Willis, Eddie Taub, formerly of the Orpheum; Miss Gladys Epstein and Paul Gerson will feature the program.

Mrs. Mary Gallwey, widow of the Rev. N. B. W. Gallwey, formerly rector of Trinity Episcopal church of this place, passed away at her home in Newport, R. I. last Sunday following an illness of several years. Mr. Gallwey died suddenly at San Mateo in 1909. Mrs. Gallwey is survived by three children, Mrs. Gallwey will be kindly remembered by the people of Menlo Park who recall her sweet ways and pleasant manner.

C. A. Vyshla, proprietor of the Oak Grove Villa, leaves tomorrow for San Francisco from which place he departs in a few days for Siberia to take charge of a Y. M. C. A. hut there. He has been connected with that institution in the city for some time. His wife will be temporarily in charge of the hotel. Mr. Vyshla is a first-class business man, held in high esteem by all. He carries with him to the icy regions of Siberia the best wishes of the people of Menlo Park.

Mrs. George Irwin and her daughter, Ollie, were here for a short time during the week. The Irwin family left here in the late eighties. George Irwin was a blacksmith here in the seventies. He died many years ago This is the first visit of Mrs. Irwin to Menlo Park in twenty years. Her daughter's husband died recently, leaving a large estate. Mrs. Irwin is pleasantly remembered in Menlo's past.

The members of the Menlo Park Horticultural Society enjoyed their annual banquet at the Trinity Episcopal hall on Thursday evening. About forty of the members of the society were present. George Nunn was the toastmaster and became eloquent in enumerating the achievements of the society during the past year.

M. A. GREEN HAS BEEN DISCHARGED FROM ARMY

M. A. Green, formerly Examiner correspondent in San Mateo county, was a visitor in Redwood City on Wednesday, having received his honorable discharge from the army. He enlisted last year and was assigned to the intelligence department.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Judge Buck yesterday granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to May Roth from her husband, George Roth on the ground of cruelty. The Roths were married at Cloverdale on December 7, 1896. They have two grown children. All property rights of the parties were settled out of court. Plaintiff waived her right to attorney fees and alimony. The court also granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to S. Colombo from his wife, Angelina Colombo on the ground of desertion. The Colombos were married in Italy on January 20, 1900. They have no children. The property rights were settled out of court. Some time ago J. J. Bullock appeared as attorney for the plaintiff in both cases.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Will Lovie was a visitor to town the fore part of the week. He has not been here in six years before. He is engaged in mining in Nevada and was on his way to Mexico to consummate a big mining deal from which he hopes to realize a big sum of money.

Sergeant Walter Hilton has arrived in New York and will soon be on his way home. He spent considerable time in Scotland and England with the aircraft department of the U. S. army. He has written to his wife, Mrs. M. F. Hilton ,the efficient and courteous deputy county clerk, telling of his wonderful experience abroad. He expects to be soon mustered out of the service.

Now is the time to list your ranch property with R. J. Letts, the real estate agent. He has a number of prospective buyers for such lands.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Long are here from Watsonville, Trinity county, and are the guests of Mrs. E. Holden, mother of Mrs. Long.

Frank King, the well-known Reno attorney, is here from Nevada to spend the holidays with his family.
